Dear friends,
In every moment,
and under every
circumstance,
we—individually
and corporately—are the direct, special subjects of God’s love. In Deuteronomy (14.1,2) God calls His people His special treasure (sægulláh). This is neither a reward or a prize for good behavior.
In fact, being God’s special treasure is completely out of our control. It’s God, being God. It’s His decision: a direct consequence, an out-pouring of God’s divine, immutable (i.e., unchanging) nature. It’s God’s will; and it’s God’s way.
God’s will is to love us. This is the how and why of God doing more than we can ask, imagine, or desire. In Matthew (19.26), Jesus says “we are powerless” to save ourselves. We can cause alienation of others and, in so doing, we can break God’s heart. Yet, inasmuch as we can’t change God’s nature, neither can we cause God to stop loving us. We can’t make God go against His nature.

When the time comes and we begin to accept God’s love of us, then the path into our being healed of our wounds and restored from our alienation becomes clearer. Not ‘easier,’ mind you, but clearer. The cure is usually difficult and sometimes painful (think “The 12 Steps”). It’s helpful to remember that, behind the effects of the pain and discomfort we experience, is our Friend and Savior. I think it was Bp Bob Hibbs who once said, “the means of grace may hurt like hell... but we must lean into it and not resist.”

Please know that I write to you in the love of Christ; I believe we’re together for a reason. If you’re struggling or experiencing difficulty, please reach out to me, or a sister or brother in our parish. Not everyone may recognize your signs of distress; not everyone may hear your unspoken hints. But given a chance, my experience is we respond with love (even if that love is sometimes expressed unhelpfully), should you choose to share.
May God’s peace and goodness be yours.

2021 ECW Survey Summary

Introduction

With the desire to make sure the ECW meets the needs of women in our parish, a survey was conducted in May/June, 2021, asking women their thoughts about ECW meetings and activities. The survey solicited thoughts regarding what was liked about ECW, what activities they would like to continue or change, and other thoughts they had. It was not the officers' intent or desire to disband ECW, but rather to determine what appeals to our women so that they and others might enjoy the fellowship and activities.

Survey Summary

The Survey attempted to reach all 72 women, identified as members of the parish, by various means. 47 women completed surveys for a 65% response rate; in the statistical world this is viewed as being a very good representation of the group's attitudes and beliefs. The majority of respondents (66%), have been active in ECW. Those who had not participated in ECW had health issues (4) or worked and were unable to participate in day time activities (3); two were not members and don't live in the area (!).

The main themes throughout nearly all of the questionnaire responses were: the ECW should not be disbanded; the desire for female fellowship, especially among newer members; and very strong support for working together, with a sense of purpose to help our community. There was also a clear recognition by many respondents regarding the many people in need in the Canyon Lake area.

Regarding raising funds, the Rummage Sale was VERY popular; and many liked Taters 'n' Treasures, primarily because it brought the congregation together as an "all-parish activity." Two people commented that consignments with the Pink Elephant Resale Shop is very successful, and a lot less work than the Rummage Sale. There were several mentions of trying different fundraisers, plus other ideas including selling barbecue plates or hosting a craft fair. Two people confessed that their favorite part of the rummage sale was being able to donate their unneeded things. Finally, a recurring suggestion was named: reduce the quantity of organizations we support in favor of the quality of our support to fewer groups.

Regarding planning women's activities, one person suggested having teams for different types of activities, which would plan those activities (e.g., fundraising, spiritual, social activities, etc.) and that perhaps this would be more effective

Continued from page 3: 2021 St. ... than having officers who are expected to do everything. Then people can help with what they're interested in organizing. Besides fellowship, there was also enthusiasm from many about the option to gather to share with one another and to learn new things. Ideas included having someone share their "spiritual biography," or teach a new skill, or offer a demonstration of something. Learning from one another and getting to know one another seem to be priorities, and a point of enjoyment for many. Several people mentioned that they liked ECW because it gave women, who were new to the parish, a place to join in and get to know others, without having to take a class.

Thank You: This survey has been an excellent tool to learn what the women of our parish value. The tool's usefulness and worth was greatly increased by the willingness of those who made phone calls to many who had not responded to the written survey. This greatly expanded our sample size and increased the validity and value of the survey overall. Many thanks to all who invested time in this project!

The survey was designed, completed, and assessed by the ECW Officers (Ronnie Schwakhofer, Carlie Maciejewski, Beverley Matthewson, Mary Anne O'Bryant, Becki Nichols, Anne Cain) and a team of volunteers (Julie Chalk, Maury Meyer, Lynda Leadford, Tricia Jones).

The report was prepared by Julie Chalk, Maury Meyer, and Anne Cain.

Could this be you?

by Winnie Benson

When you enter our worship space on Sundays, do you notice the flowers? Have you wondered where they come from and who arranges them?

Many years ago, the flowers were purchased from a local florist. Some ladies of the parish decided that they would like to use their skills and arrange the flowers themselves. This was the beginning of St. Francis' Flower Guild.

We began with a very willing team—16 ladies!—each of whom had their own style. Over the years, they've become more confident, and try different materials to work with. Not only has this made it interesting to see each Sunday, but the High Holy Days like Christmas and Easter have seen amazing creativity.

We're not a closed club!! New members are always welcome, and we would love to have you join us. You need no previous experience; Winnie Benson will be teaching the basic rules of design (she owned her own florist shop for 10 years). After training, you'll be paired with another guild member until you feel confident enough to "Go it alone."

If this sounds like your cup of tea, please call Winnie at (830) 899-3164. Thank you!

But wait! There's more Flower Guild news...

One of the ministries of St. Francis by the Lake is the flower guild. Our ministry is to provide the altar arrangements for worship on Sundays. Members of the parish, at times, wish to remember loved ones, or a special occasion—such as a birthday or anniversary. A contribution is made to the guild by the parishioner, and the guild makes the arrangements. [Suggestions regarding colors and types of flowers are always welcome, although supply-and-demand means we can't guarantee our ability to comply with all requests.]

The Flower Guild has recently decided to lower the contribution amount asked for to $12.50 per arrangement. We hope that the lower cost will make it more affordable for parishioners to remember loved ones or events, or to celebrate and give thanks, with a floral remembrance.

There is a new sign up sheet in the MOC hall, on which we ask you to write in your name, the reason for giving the flowers, and the Sunday date you wish it to be noted in the bulletin.

If you have any questions, regarding this, please call me (Winnie) at (830) 899-3164. Thank you!
